When Will My Domain Name Registration Become Active?

After your .nz domain name is registered, it will become active during the next .nz zone build, which occurs daily on the hour, every hour.

All global gTLD domain names (.com, .net, .org, .info, .biz) are scheduled for inclusion and activation within 12 hours.

However, you can begin setting up services for your domain name on our website before the next .nz zone build. This can be done as soon as you receive our email confirming your Account Number and Password.
