When Will My Domain Name Transfer Become Active?

After your .nz domain name is transferred, it will become active within 24 hours after the next .nz zone build that occur daily on the hour, every hour.

You can however, begin setting up services for your domain name from our web site before the next .nz zone build. You can do this right after you receive our email confirming your Account Number and Password.

Non .nz domain name transfers such as .com .info .org can take up to 7 days for the transfer process to complete. Usually the transfer is completed earlier. It depends on the losing registrar as well.
